

THE WOOL CLIP

For all things woollen

Dear All

A lot has been happening since our last e-newsletter back in May and we hope that this one finds you well after some uncertain times. We've been working hard to re-open the shop at Caldbeck and managed this early in July. Since then, our COVID precautions seem to have been just right and it's been lovely to welcome back visitors and, of course, shoppers.

At the beginning of August, we were able to extend our days and hours and the shop is now open every Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday from 11.30am to 4.00pm. There's a new entrance at one end of the shop and then a zoned system to ensure social distancing while also enabling browsing. We'd love to welcome you in the coming weeks and months.

As an extra incentive to visit the shop during August, we've invited a guest "exhibitor" to be our first Spotlight. Any of you who've been to Woolfest will recognise basketmaker and woodworker, Phil Bradley.

You can see a range of Phil's work - including some beautiful limpet lights and cleft oak stools as well as baskets and other woven willow - in the shop until the end of August. We're hoping to make Spotlights a regular feature as it seems a useful way to support other local artists and makers after the cancellation of so many of this year's selling exhibitions and events.

We hope that we can tempt you to visit but, if Caldbeck isn't close for you, don't forget that we still have our online shop. There is new work by members of The Wool Clip co-operative being added regularly to this so it's worth keeping an eye on what's available - yarns, fibre, kits and finished crafts and gifts.

And please keep safe and keep well.

Best wishes,
